Privacy Policy

We respect the privacy of individuals and our clients. Generally, we do not release personal information. However, if required by law, or in the case of an emergency or exceptional circumstances the Managing Director may at their discretion authorise the release of personal information.

We may make a record of your visit to our website and log your visit for statistical and business purposes. Such information includes your server address, domain name, IP address, the date and time of your visit, and the type of browser used.

If you send us an email message or a message via our website, we will record your email address. We will only use your email address for the purpose for which it was provided. We will not use it for any other purpose without your express approval.

Personal information that you supply through our website will only be used for the purpose for which you have provided it and to assist us to conduct our business. This may include analysing information obtained on the website to determine the effectiveness of the site and to modify it to improve the service that it provides.

We will not disclose your personal information to a third party except in accordance with this notice/policy.
